Licensure Term    Comprehensive Home Care provider in a Registered Housing with Services establishment

Opening Statement    Minnesota does not license assisted living as a distinct category. Assisted living is a definition requiring a Housing with Services registration and a comprehensive home care license. Alternatively, a provider that has a Housing with Services registration may contract with a separate, arranged home care agency that has a comprehensive home care license. Housing with Services establishments can also have a basic home care license to provide non-medical services, however, this license would not meet the definition of assisted living. Both licensure and registration renewals occur annually.

In 1995, the legislature separated housing from services, requiring an establishment to provide health-related services through a licensed home care agency. Minnesota then created a registration category called Housing with Services that applies to establishments that provide sleeping accommodations to adult residents and one or more health-related services or two or more supportive services. In 2006, the legislature passed a bill that provides title protection for the use of the phrase "assisted living."

Legislative and Regulatory Update   No recent legislative or regulatory changes have been finalized for assisted living, however the regulations are under review.

In 2017 Minnesota passed legislation that adds new items that must be included in the Housing with Services contract; the new requirements are intended to ensure compliance with the Home and Community-based Services Setting Rule.

Definition    Use of the phrase "assisted living" is restricted to registered Housing with Services establishments that meet specific requirements which include, but are not limited to: providing 24/7 staff access to an on-call registered nurse (RN); a system to check on each assisted living client daily; a means for assisted living clients to request assistance; staff to respond to health or safety needs 24 hours a day, seven days a week; two meals per day; weekly housekeeping and laundry; health services including assistance with self-administered medication or medication administration; assistance with at least three activities of daily living (ADLs); and health-related services from a Minnesota-licensed home care agency.

Assisted living means a service or package of services advertised, marketed, or otherwise described, offered, or promoted using the phrase "assisted living" either alone or in combination with other words, whether orally or in writing.

Housing with Services establishments provide sleeping accommodations to one or more adult residents. These facilities offer or provide, for a fee, one or more regularly scheduled health-related services or two or more regularly scheduled supportive services.

Supportive services means help with personal laundry, handling or assisting with personal funds of residents, or arranging for medical services, health-related services, social services, or transportation to medical or social services appointments. Arranging for services does not include making referrals, assisting a resident in contacting a service provider of the resident’s choice, or contacting a service provider in an emergency.

Disclosure Items

The state specifies information that must be included in a Housing with Services contract and provided to the resident. In addition, a separate Uniform Consumer Information Guide, which includes information about services offered by the provider, service costs, and other relevant provider-specific information, must be made available to all current and prospective clients in the required format. (See Alzheimer’s Unit Requirements for additional disclosure requirements specific to dementia care.)

Facility Scope of Care

Home care services that must be made available by a Housing with Services establishment using the phrase assisted living and are provided by a provider with a comprehensive home care license and includes, at a minimum, the following health-related services: assistance with self-administration of medication, medication management, or medication administration; and assistance with at least three of the following seven ADLs: bathing, dressing, grooming, eating, transferring, continence care, and toileting. A person or entity offering assisted living may define the scope of available services. Home care providers are required to provide a “Statement of Home Care Services” that outlines what services they will and will not provide under their license.

Third Party Scope of Care

The establishment must have an arrangement with a comprehensive home care licensed provider or use its own licensed home care agency. Requirements do not specify whether establishments may contract with other types of providers. Tenants of a registered Housing with Services establishment have the right to bring in their own home care services.

Admission and Retention Policy

A person or entity offering assisted living may determine which services it will provide and may offer assisted living to all or only some of the residents of a Housing with Services establishment. Housing with Services establishments and home care providers are not required to offer or continue to provide services under a service agreement or service plan to prospective or current residents if they determine that they cannot meet their needs.

The federal Fair Housing Act, Americans with Disabilities Act, Minnesota Landlord-Tenant Law, and the Minnesota Human Rights Act apply to persons applying to lease a unit in a registered Housing with Services establishment.

Health care services may be terminated without impacting the resident’s housing status. Thirty day notice, with certain exceptions, must be given to terminate health care services and assistance must be offered in finding another health care provider. Housing may be separately terminated if the conditions of the lease are violated.

Resident Assessment

Assessments by an RN must be offered prior to move in or upon executing a contract. Initial assessments must be conducted by an RN within five days after initiation of home care services. Client monitoring and reassessment must be conducted in the client’s home within 14 days after initiation of home care services. Ongoing monitoring assessments must occur every 90 days or as needed based on the needs of the client and may be conducted by RNs and licensed practical nurses on an alternating basis. Initial assessments for medication management must be conducted by an RN face-to-face with the client prior to the implementation of medication management services.

Medication Management

For comprehensive home care providers, medications may be administered either by a nurse, physician, or other licensed health practitioner authorized to administer medications, or by unlicensed personnel who have been delegated medication administration.
tasks by an RN and successfully completed relevant medication management competency testing. At a minimum, an establishment representing itself as assisted living must offer to provide or arrange for assistance with self-administration of medications or administration of medications. Home care licensure statutes and rules must be followed. Initial assessments for medication management must be conducted by a RN face-to-face with the client prior to the implementation of medication management services.

(9) A statement that residents will be given written notice 30 days prior to changes in the fee schedule.

Supervisors and direct care staff must be trained in dementia care. Supervisors must have at least eight hours of initial training within 120 working hours of the employment start date and two hours of annual continuing education. Direct-care employees must have eight hours of initial training and staff who do not provide direct care must have at least four hours of initial training both within 160 working hours of the employment start date, and two hours of annual continuing education. Areas of required training include:

1) An explanation of Alzheimer’s disease and related disorders;
2) Assistance with ADLs;

3) Problem solving with challenging behaviors; and

4) Communication skills.

The licensee must provide to consumers a written or electronic description of the training program, the categories of employees trained, the frequency of training, and the basic topics covered.

Staffing Requirements

In order to use the term assisted living, Housing with Services establishments are required to have a person available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, who is responsible for responding to the requests of assisted living clients for assistance with health or safety needs, unless they meet the criteria for exemption for awake-staff described in MN Statute 144G.03 Subdivision 3. In addition, the licensed home care agency providing the health care services must provide all services agreed to in the client's signed service plan. There are no mandated staffing ratios.

Administrator Education/Training

The manager must obtain at least 30 hours of continuing education every two years of employment. For supervisors of direct care staff at special care units, continuing education must include at least eight hours of documented training on the topics of: (1) an explanation of Alzheimer’s disease and related disorders; (2) assistance with ADLs; (3) problem solving with challenging behaviors; and (4) communication skills, within 120 working hours of employment start date, and two hours of training on these topics for each 12 months of employment thereafter.

Additionally, for all other supervisors who provide assisted living services, this continuing education must include at least four hours of documented training on the topics identified above within 160 working hours of hire, and two hours of training on these topics for each 12 months of employment thereafter.

Staff Education/Training

All persons who have contact with clients must complete an orientation to home care, which includes an overview of the home care statutes and rules as well as handling emergencies, reporting maltreatment, the home care bill of rights, handling client complaints, and the services of the ombudsman for older Minnesotans. Unlicensed personnel who perform delegated nursing services must successfully complete the core training described in MN Rule 4668 and pass relevant competency evaluations for delegated services.

Unlicensed personnel must complete at least eight hours of in-service training in topics relevant to the provision of home care services during each 12 months of employment. Included in the required eight hours of annual training must be education related to: (1) infection control, (2) Minnesota Vulnerable Adult Act and required reporting responsibilities, (3) Home Care Bill of Rights, and (4) a review of the home care provider’s policies and procedures.

There are additional training requirements for Housing with Services establishments registered to have a special program or special care unit for residents with Alzheimer’s disease or other dementias. Direct-care employees must complete at least eight hours of documented training on specified topics within 160 working hours of employment start date. Staff who do not provide direct care must have at least four hours of initial training within at least 160 working hours of the employment start date and at least two hours of training for each 12 months thereafter.
